

He's Only Just Begun (Parody of The Carpenters' "We've Only Just Begun")

He's only just begun – we see
His faithful promises
Destruction's coming – it's on the way

He's only begun
Before the rising sun – He'll fly!
Millions of brutes destroyed
He taught you right but you turned away

And yes He's just begun
Horses are running bringing dearth to you
So many signs along the way [ahhh]
You think you're smarter and you won't obey
Working against yourselves today

And when His wrath is full – you'll cry
No more of life ahead!
We beg the rocks to please rain on us!

And yet He's just begun
Deep bloody rivers flowing over you
Ignored the signs along the way [whoaaaaa]
His righteous judgments punish all of you
For grievous sins you soon will pay

And when His march is done – we'll say
Such tender promises
His mercies great have kept us so safe

And yes, He's just begun
