

Need Us Now (Parody of “Need You Now” by Lady Antebellum)

Cryin' 'bout your memories, Shattered all around the floor

Hating our reminder

God is gonna win this war

And we wonder why it never crossed your mind

That you're livin' on borrowed time

Your destruction has begun

Wail, weep and moan

But you need us now

Plot to make us fall

Work hard to make us go

But you need us now

When we take our bow

God will wipe you out

You just need us now

Another troop to bury

Line your flags outside the door

All the pain your reaping

Only makes you hate us more

And we wonder why it never crossed your mind

That you're livin' on borrowed time

Your destruction has begun

Gettin' punch drunk

And you need us now

Plot to make us fall

Work hard to make us go

But you need us now

When we take our bow

God will wipe you out

you just need us now

Whoa, whoa

Guess You'd rather hurt

Than heed this final call

Your destruction has begun

Wail, weep and moan

But you need us now

And you plot to make us fall

Should be heeding our call

You just need us now

When we take our bow

God will wipe you out

You just need us now, You just need us now

Oh rebels—you need us now
